Hi, I'm Gabriel, a Brazilian-born daydreamer. People often describe my approach to life as analytical, and according to my analysis, they are absolutely right. An important trait of my personality is my adaptability; I thrive in diverse environments and love a challenge.

After completing high school in Brazil, I made the decision to move to Italy, driven by the pursuit of personal growth and new opportunities. Along the way, I discovered my dedication to work - especially when it carries a meaningful story behind it.
